Subject: What are you talkin' about?

To: Randi L. Trzesinski

Hey!

Here are my questions:

Question?

Who's on first?

What about this?

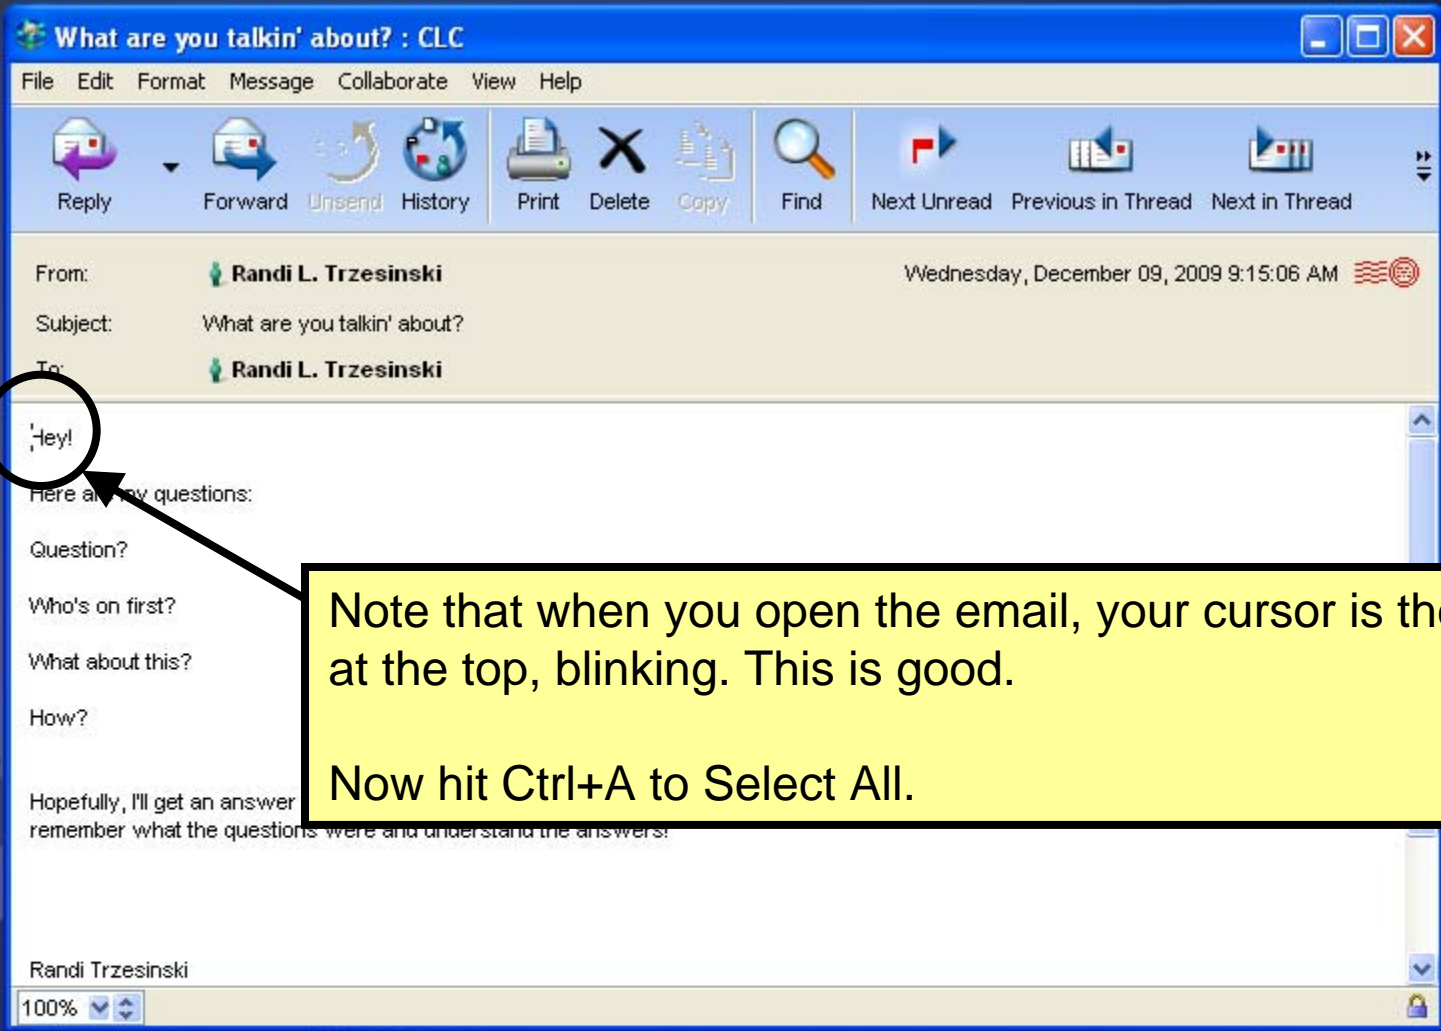

How?

Hopefully, I'll get an answer back. But it's a super involved string of questions. So hopefully they'll include my original email so I can remember what the questions were and understand the answers!

100%

So here's my email. Loaded with questions that I need to reply to.

Note that when you open the email, your cursor is there at the top, blinking. This is good.

Now hit Ctrl+A to Select All.

All of the text in the email should now be highlighted.

Next, click on the Reply button.

And there it is. All the text from the original email. (Shaded in gray.) Never again will someone ask you:

What are you talkin' about?
